AUSTRALIAN PRIVACY PRINCIPLE 5 NOTIFICATION

The Australian Government Department of Agriculture is collecting this personal information about you to protect the Australian public by minimising the entry of quarantinable diseases and diseases with pandemic potential. The Department of Health can be contacted by telephone on (02) 6289 1555 or freecall 1800 020 103 or by using the online enquiries form at www.health.gov.au. The Department of Agriculture can be contacted by telephone on (02) 6272 3933 or by using the online enquiries form at www.daff.gov.au.

The collection of your health information is authorised under the Quarantine Act 1908.

If you do not provide the health information requested, some or all of the penalties authorised under the Quarantine Act 1908 may be invoked.

The Department of Agriculture will disclose your personal information to the Department of Health.

The Department of Health may disclose some or all of the information contained in this form to Australian state and/or territory health officials as authorised under the National Health Security Act 2007.

The Department of Agriculture has an APP privacy policy at http://www.daff.gov.au/about/privacy and the Department of Health has an APP privacy policy which you can read at http://www.health.gov.au/internet/main/publishing.nsf/content/privacy-policy. You can obtain a copy of the APP privacy policies of each Department by using the contact details set out above. The APP privacy policies contain information about:

- how you may access the personal information each Department holds about you and how you can seek correction of it; and
- how you may complain about a breach of the Australian Privacy Principles

The Department of Health may disclose some of the information you have provided to overseas recipients during public health emergences of international concern or in connection with specific public health risks. It is not practical to specify the countries we may disclose your information to as it will depend on the particular circumstances.

Measures affecting travel may be recommended to avoid the international spread of disease, including requesting health information of travellers, as part of information sharing between the World Health Organization and State Parties to the International Health Regulations 2005.
