

THE HON JUSTINE ELLIOT MP

Minister for Ageing

MEDIA RELEASE

Queensland offered largest single allocation in 2008-2009 aged care approvals round

This weekend, Queensland will receive its largest single offer of nursing home and hostel beds and community places, the Minister for Ageing, Mrs Justine Elliot said.

Queensland will receive 3,036 out of the 10,447 places on offer in Australia in the Aged Care Approvals Round (ACAR).

This weekend (Saturday November 8), the Australian Government would call for applications for the 2008-2009 ACAR.

Over the next three years, the Rudd Labor Government will create more than 37,000 new aged care places.

This builds on the 221,144 aged care beds and community care places already operational. (Of the 221,144 places, 174,669 are residential beds and 46,475 are community care places.)

In the 2008-2009 Aged Care Approvals Round (ACAR) beginning this weekend, there will be 3,026 places in Queensland, 2,994 in NSW, 2,096 in Victoria, 1,544 places in Western Australia, 288 in South Australia, 214 in ACT, 206 in Tasmania and 79 in the Northern Territory. In total, there will be 10,447 places - nationally.

“This is a big win for Queensland and reflects that it has a significant ageing population,” Mrs Elliot said.

“In fact, almost a third of all the nursing home and hostel beds this year will be available to Queensland aged care providers. We are responding to the needs of older Queenslanders.”

Overall, Australians now have the world's second longest life expectancy. Currently, there are some 2.8 million Australians – about 13 per cent of the population – aged 65 and over. This number is expected to triple in 40 years.

Over the next four years, the Australian Government will invest $41.6 billion into aged and community care. No Australian Government has invested more. The Australian Government provides on average $41,500 a year a resident in subsidies.

The official invitation to apply for places, capital grants and 'Extra Service' status in the 2008-09 round will occur this weekend (Saturday 8 November).

The ACAR is an annual competitive assessment process that allocates new Australian Government-funded aged care places to providers who best demonstrate that they can meet the growing needs of the ageing population within their local region.

Mrs Elliot also announced the "indicative" figures for the 2009-10 and 2010-11 ACAR – allowing nursing home and community care providers to make long-term plans.

Information sessions will be conducted from Monday 10 November to Tuesday 18 November.

Queensland 2008-2009 ACAR information sessions are scheduled in a range of places including Brisbane, Bundaberg, Cairns, Caloundra and Gold Coast.

The sessions will include important details on the 2008-09 application forms and the basis on which applications will be assessed. For those unable to attend, the Department of Health and Ageing will be putting all of the information material online immediately after the official invitation to apply is posted.

Decisions on aged care places are made independently by the Department of Health and Ageing. The aim of the process is to ensure that the allocation of aged care places best meets the identified needs of the community.
