The concept of a "main site" varies with each RCS. Some have a single administrative base and others maintain several sites which they consider to be equally central to their operations. This map represents the most recent information available to the Department and may change over time.