APPLICATION GUIDE

THE 2022-23 FLEXIBLE AGED CARE PLACES (MULTI-PURPOSE SERVICES) ALLOCATIONS ROUND – APPLICATION GUIDE

This document provides you with information about the 2022-23 Flexible Aged Care Places (Multi-Purpose Services) Allocations Round process.

What is the Flexible Aged Care Places (Multi-Purpose Services) Allocations Round?

The Australian Government is committed to providing a sustainable system that supports older people who need care. The process for planning the annual allocation and distribution of new aged care places is set out in the Aged Care Act 1997 (the Act). The Flexible Aged Care Places allocations round is the process the Department of Health and Aged Care (the department) uses to allocate flexible aged care places to Multi-Purpose Services (MPS).

The MPS Program is a joint initiative of the Australian and state and territory governments and provides integrated health and aged care services for small rural and remote communities. The MPS Program has an important role as it allows services to exist in regions that could not viably support a stand-alone hospital or aged care home.

The Flexible Aged Care Places (Multi-Purpose Services) allocations round process enables existing approved providers to apply for new subsidised flexible aged care places in an open, competitive and equitable way.

The broad objectives of the allocations process are to identify community needs, including people with special needs, and to allocate places in a way that best meets the identified aged care needs of the community.

In consideration of the recommendations from the Royal Commission into Aged Care and the spirit of the MPS program, the 2022-23 allocations round will prioritise applications that meet the following:

- enables equity of access so rural communities can age in place
- provides culturally appropriate care specific to the regional needs
- provides a homelike environment
- provides a dementia friendly environment
- is sustainable
- will not create competition for other aged care providers in the area
- provides evidence of support for the application from the relevant State or Territory health department in which the service is or will be located, including that the area needs a Multi-Purpose Service.

Making places operational in a timely manner

The department is committed to supporting the delivery of care for older people within reasonable timeframes.

The Act allows for an extension of the provisional allocation period for aged care places to four years and permits two, twelve-month extensions before the places are expected to become operational. If, after six years, the places have not been made operational, further extensions will only be granted where exceptional circumstances for not providing care within this timeframe can be demonstrated.

Should provisionally allocated flexible aged care places not be operationalised within six years from the date of allocation, and no exceptional circumstances exist, the provisionally allocated places will lapse.

Please note: Exceptional circumstances are limited to situations that are unusual and outside the control of the approved provider. Organisations are encouraged to visit the Management of Places Forms and Guidance Material for Approved Providers webpage.

HOW MANY PLACES ARE AVAILABLE?

How many places are available?

In the 2022-23 allocations round, up to 100 flexible residential aged care places are available to expand existing services or establish new services.

What is not available in the 2022-23 Flexible Aged Care Places (Multi-Purpose Services) Allocation Round?

Flexible Aged Care Places for the provision of care equivalent to Home Care will not be allocated in this round.
