

Prescribed pattern of services – What you need to know

Information about inappropriate practice and prescribed pattern of services (80/20 and 30/20 rules and which services apply).

Circumstances for Prescribed Pattern of Services

A medical practitioner engages in inappropriate practice where some or all the services rendered or initiated constitute a prescribed pattern of services. This includes:

- If they have rendered or initiated 80 or more relevant services on each of 20 or more days in a 12-month period (known as the 80/20 rule)
- If they have rendered or initiated 30 or more relevant phone services on each of 20 or more days in a 12-month period (known as the 30/20 rule)

The 80/20 Rule

The 80/20 rule aims to address consistently high volumes of rendered or initiated services by medical practitioners. From 1 July 2022, telehealth services including telephone and video consultations are included in the 80/20 rule.

The Health Insurance Act 1973 requires a request to be made to the Director of Professional Services Review (Director) if the delegate of the Chief Executive Medicare (delegate) becomes aware of a breach of the 80/20 rule. This pattern of service is deemed to constitute inappropriate practice, except in exceptional circumstances. The 80/20 rule is based on the number of professional attendance services per day, which may not be the same as the number of patients seen in a day. Professional attendance services include the following groups as listed in the Health Insurance \(Professional Services Review Scheme\) Regulation 2019:
