Australian Government response to the Senate Select Committee report:

COVID-19: Final Report

OCTOBER 2024

Response to the recommendations

Australian Government response

The Government notes this recommendation. However, given the passage of time since this report was tabled, in April 2022, a substantive Government response is no longer appropriate.

The independent COVID-19 Response Inquiry report was released on 29 October 2024. The Government will release a response to this report after careful consideration of its findings and recommendations.
