

A woman with dark, wavy hair is sitting on a light blue cushion against a solid pink background. She is wearing a white cardigan with dark blue and white striped cuffs and a dark blue collar. She is holding a white, tube-like device in her right hand and a long, thin swab with a red bulb at the end in her left hand. She is looking directly at the camera with a calm expression.

You have choices for cervical screening

Vivian chose to self-swab at the clinic

Did you know cervical cancer is preventable?

Early detection through routine screening could save your life.

Women and people with a cervix aged 25–74 should have a Cervical Screening Test every 5 years.

Your doctor can do the test, or you can do it yourself using a simple swab.

It's your Cervical Screening Test. Own It.

Talk to your doctor next time you're due.

NATIONAL CERVICAL SCREENING
PROGRAM
A joint Australian, State and Territory Government Program

Australian Multicultural Health Collaborative

ownit.org.au

