

A woman with short dark hair, wearing a black turtleneck, is smiling and holding a cervical swab. She is holding the swab with her right hand, which has a red handle and a white tip. The background is a solid blue color.

You have choices for cervical screening

Riva chose to self-swab at the clinic

Did you know cervical cancer is preventable?

Early detection through routine screening could save your life.

Women and people with a cervix aged 25–74 should have a Cervical Screening Test every 5 years.

Your doctor can do the test, or you can do it yourself using a simple swab.

It's your Cervical Screening Test. Own It.

Talk to your doctor next time you're due.

NATIONAL
CERVICAL SCREENING
PROGRAM
A joint Australian, State and Territory Government Program

Australian Multicultural
Health Collaborative

