

You have choices for cervical screening

ownit.org.au

Cervical cancer is preventable.

Women and people with a cervix aged 25–74 should have a Cervical Screening Test every 5 years.

Your doctor can do your test or you can do your own using a simple swab.

Speak with your doctor for more info.

NATIONAL CERVICAL SCREENING PROGRAM

A joint Australian, State and Territory Government Program

Australian Multicultural
Health
Collaborative

