

Lung cancer screening saves lives.

The earlier cancer is found, the better our chances of treating it.

A new lung cancer screening program is now available for people with a smoking history.

It's free and it could save your life.

If you're aged between 50 to 70 and currently smoke, or have quit in the last 10 years, you could be eligible for a scan.

Talk to a doctor or health professional.

Heath, Aboriginal Health Worker

Visit health.gov.au/lung to find out more.

Supported by the Australian Government

