Who is collecting your personal information?	Your personal information is being collected by the Australian Government Department of Health, Disability and Ageing (the Department).
What personal information is being collected?	- For specialised homeless residential care home status, the names of individuals receiving ongoing (permanent) residential care who were homeless on entry to residential aged care. - For specialised Aboriginal or Torres Strait Islander (ATSI) residential care home status, the names of individuals receiving ongoing (permanent) residential care who are Aboriginal or Torres Strait Islander persons. - For the Registered Provider, the details of the person completing and submitting the form for assessment.
Is the collection authorised or required by law?	The collection of this information is required if the Registered Provider applies for a specialised residential care home status under either section 243-10 or 243-15 of the Aged Care Rules 2025 .
Why does the department collect your personal information?	We collect personal information for the purpose of determining a residential care home's eligibility for specialised status.
What would happen if the department did not collect your personal information?	If you do not or are unable to provide your personal information, the Department may not be able to determine whether the residential care home has met the requirements necessary to be a specialised residential care home.
Who will the department disclose your personal information to?	We will not disclose your personal information.
