

Australian National Advisory Council on Alcohol and Other Drugs

ANACAD

2025 ANNUAL REPORT

Background

The Australian National Advisory Council on Alcohol and Other Drugs (ANACAD) was established in December 2014 as the principal expert advisory body to the Australian Government on matters pertaining to alcohol and other drugs (AOD).

ANACAD reports to the minister with portfolio responsibility for AOD police issues. Throughout 2025 this was the Minister for Health and Ageing (the Minister).

This report provides an overview of the discussions amongst ANACAD in 2025, noting the advice provided to the Minister remains confidential.

Terms of Reference

The Terms of Reference state that ANACAD will:

1. Report to the Australian Government through the portfolio minister with policy responsibility for alcohol and other drug (AOD) policy issues (the Minister).
 - a. AOD issues may be raised with other ministers whose policy responsibility intersects or overlaps AOD policy. However, the Minister must be copied into all correspondence.
2. Support the Australian Government by providing confidential, strategic, evidence-based advice on:
 - a. AOD use and related matters.
 - b. Identified priorities of national importance regarding policy, related regulation, prevention, demand reduction, supply reduction and control, harm reduction and treatment, and workforce activities.
 - c. AOD issues relevant to First Nations populations.
 - d. Requests from the Minister as required.
3. Work collaboratively with the Department of Health, Disability and Ageing to support complex AOD policy development.
4. Advise on and support the Australian Government's activities in relation to relevant national framework and strategies, such as the National Drug Strategy 2017-2026 and the National Preventive Health Strategy 2021-2030.
5. Provide an annual report to the Minister.
6. Engage as appropriate with key experts such as community and family members, people with lived experience, law enforcement and treatment personnel, First Nations expertise, and any other identified priority population groups.

Key activities

ANACAD met three times in 2025, in June, September and November. These meetings were held on Ngunnawal Country in Canberra and marked the commencement of the 2025-27 term, following a membership refresh and with a renewed focus on national AOD policy and reforms.

June 2025 – Establishment and Planning

The June meeting initiated the new ANACAD term. Members reviewed progress made by the former term in progressing its priorities relating to workforce, primary care, governance, stigma and discrimination, in addition to ad hoc advice as well as built rapport as a new Council.

Members agreed to continue work on primary care, workforce, stigma, discrimination, and racism, and began considering new areas such as the relationship between AOD and suicide and suicidality, challenges in ageing and aged care, and the next iteration of the National Drug Strategy.

Emphasis was also placed on community engagement and consultation, with plans to facilitate these activities over the term.

September 2025 – Work Plan Refinement

The September meeting focused on developing the 2025–27 Work Plan, informed by ongoing primary care and workforce reform activities.

ANACAD centred its discussions around AOD reforms, including the:

- future of the National Drug Strategy
- House Standing Committee on Health, Aged Care and Disability Inquiry into the health impacts of alcohol and other drugs in Australia
- future administration of the Drug and Alcohol Program.

Members also agreed to provide advice to Government on AOD models of care, pursuing AOD workforce modelling in partnership with the Department of Health, Disability and Ageing, and remaining across the key elements of the Government's primary care reform agenda.

ANACAD agreed to consider all Work Plan items with a view to reducing stigma, discrimination, and racism. Commitments were also made to maintain a watching brief on family, domestic and sexual violence, suicide and suicidality, ageing and aged care, and forensic toxicology, with a view to providing advice to Government as topical or requested.

Key attendees

The September 2025 meeting was attended by the following invited guests:

- The Hon Mark Butler MP, Minister for Health and Aging, and Minister for Disability and the National Disability Insurance Scheme
- The Hon Rebecca White MP, Assistant Minister for Health and Aged Care, Assistant Minister for Women, and Assistant Minister for Indigenous Health
- Professor Michael Kidd, Chief Medical Officer

- Representatives from the Department of Health, Disability and Ageing's Primary Care and Health Workforce Divisions.

November 2025 – Work Plan Progression

The November meeting focused on continuing to progress Work Plan priorities.

ANACAD refined the documentation of its 2025-27 Work Plan, to clearly articulate the scope and objectives of each priority activity, and the dependencies between each work stream.

Members discussed several cross-cutting matters, including:

- updates on the respective AOD reform activities and potential next steps
- recently completed research regarding AOD use by young women
- the role and remit of the AOD Research Centres through the Department of Health, Disability and Ageing
- AOD models of care
- governance opportunities
- the final recommendations from the Productivity Commission review of the National Mental Health and Suicide Prevention Agreement.

ANACAD reaffirmed its commitment to reducing stigma, discrimination, and maintained its awareness of secondary priorities.

Key attendees

The November 2025 meeting was attended by the following invited guests:

- The Hon Mark Butler MP, Minister for Health and Aging, and Minister for Disability and the National Disability Insurance Scheme
- Professor Alison Ritter AO, Director, Drug Policy Modelling Program at the University of New South Wales
- Drs Megan Cook, Benjamin Riordan, Emmanuel Kuntsche and Amy Pennay, La Trobe University
- Representatives from the Department of Health, Disability and Ageing's Health Workforce Division.
