Procedure Types - for the purposes of accommodation benefits for eligible Hospital treatment

A - procedure normally requires at least part of overnight Hospital treatment

B - procedure normally requires at least part of same-day Hospital treatment items that normally require Hospital treatment of predominantly the same type, are assigned a single procedure type

a limited number of items normally require a mixed distribution of same-day and overnight Hospital treatment and may be assigned to both procedure types

unlisted - items not assigned a specific procedure type

eg, general anaesthesia item not requiring accommodation in itself but is done in hospital in support of other treatments

C - procedure does not normally require Hospital treatment, but with appropriate certification has the potential to be eligible for benefits as Hospital treatment
