Personal care contribution change from 1 October 2026

From 1 October 2026, the Australian Government will fully fund approved personal care services for eligible older people who are Support at Home participants. Participants who are approved for personal care services and have available Support at Home funding will no longer pay contributions for these services.

What is changing?

If your support plan includes personal care services and you have available Support at Home funding, you will be able to receive personal care services at no out-of-pocket cost to you. Personal care services will continue to be funded from your available Support at Home ongoing quarterly budget.

Personal care includes support with tasks such as:

- showering
- non-clinical continence management
- dressing
- eating
- personal hygiene
- assistance with self-administration of medication.

This change recognises personal care as an essential service that supports your health, dignity and wellbeing – not an optional extra.

What is not changing?

Your eligibility for personal care services is not changing. This change does not provide additional Support at Home funding.

What do I need to do?

You do not need to do anything right now. The change starts from 1 October 2026.

Before then, we may contact you to update documents like your service agreement, care plan, budget, statements or invoices.

Subject line: Change to personal care contributions from 1 October 2026

Preview text: From 1 October 2026, you no longer need to pay contributions for approved personal care services under Support at Home.

Email:

Dear [Participant name],

We are writing to let you know about an upcoming change to personal care contributions under Support at Home.

What is changing?

From 1 October 2026, the Australian Government will fully fund approved personal care services under Support at Home.

If you are approved for personal care services in your support plan and have available Support at Home funds, you will no longer pay contributions for personal care services delivered from 1 October 2026. Personal care services will continue to be funded from your available ongoing budget.

Personal care includes support with daily tasks such as:

- showering
- non-clinical continence management
- dressing
- eating
- personal hygiene
- assistance with self-administration of medication.

What is not changing?

- Your eligibility for personal care services is not changing.
- Your provider, care workers and existing care arrangements will stay the same.
- Contributions for other Support at Home services are not changing.
- If you are already approved for personal care services, you do not need a reassessment because of this change.
- Contributions will still apply to personal care services delivered before 1 October 2026, even if they are claimed after that date.

Do you need to do anything?

You do not need to do anything now. The change will happen automatically.

Before 1 October 2026, we may contact you to update documents such as your service agreement, care plan, budget, statements or invoices.

Need support or more information?

If you have questions about your personal care services or would like to discuss your care plan or budget, please contact us.

About personal care contribution change

From 1 October 2026, the Australian Government will fully fund approved personal care services for eligible older people who are Support at Home participants. Participants who are approved for personal care services and have available Support at Home funding will no longer pay contributions for these services. Personal care services will continue to be funded from a participant's available Support at Home ongoing quarterly budget.

The following questions and answers explain what the change means for you, what is staying the same, and where to go if you need support or more information.

Will I still need to pay for personal care services?

From 1 October 2026, you will not need to pay contributions for personal care services if you are approved for personal care services in your support plan and have available Support at Home funds. Personal care services will continue to be funded from your available Support at Home ongoing quarterly budget.

What is considered personal care?

Personal care includes support with daily tasks such as showering, non-clinical continence management, dressing, eating, personal hygiene and assistance with self-administration of medication.

Will I need a reassessment to receive personal care services?

No. If you are already approved for personal care services, you do not need a reassessment.

Will my personal care services continue?

Yes. Your provider, care workers and existing care arrangements will continue as usual. This change only affects how personal care contributions are charged.

What happens to personal care services delivered before 1 October 2026?

Any applicable contributions to personal care services delivered before 1 October 2026 will still apply, even if they appear on a later statement or invoice.

Why do I have to wait until 1 October 2026?

The change starts on 1 October 2026 to give providers and government agencies time to get everything ready, including updating systems and information, so the change runs smoothly.

Do I need to do anything?

You do not need to do anything now. The change will happen automatically. Before 1 October 2026, we will review and update documents such as your service agreement, care plan, budget, statements or invoices where required. We may contact you to discuss any changes.

Will my contributions for other Support at Home services change?

No. Contributions for other Support at Home services are not changing.

What if I am finding it hard to pay my fees?

Financial hardship assistance may be available, including for contributions that apply to personal care services delivered before 1 October 2026. Please contact us.

Where can I get more information or support?

If you have questions about this change, please contact us.
