Subject: Working Group for a nationally consistent approach to pharmacist administered vaccinations [SEC=No Protective Marking]

Dear AHPPC Secretariat,

I am emailing in regards to the recent decision by the Council of Australian Governments (COAG) Health Council's decision to establish a working group to consider a nationally consistent approach to pharmacist vaccinations. I understand that the COAG Health Council has tasked the Australian Health Protection Principal Committee to establish this working group which will consider and recommend options for a nationally consistent approach for pharmacist administered vaccinations.

Medicines Australia is interested in being involved with this working group. If you can provide any further information about this initiative and how Medicines Australia can be involved that would be appreciated.

Kind Regards,

s 47F
