Consistent with the Act, it is not usual practice for an 'isolation measure' (individual to go to specified medical facility), which may form part of a 'human biosecurity control order' issued by a human biosecurity officer or chief human biosecurity officer to be issued, unless considered necessary and appropriate for an individual case.

It may be necessary to make a control order at RAAF Base Learmonth, or, if one or more individuals choose to leave, initiate contact tracing, and a control order (isolation measure) at a later date, so it will be important to prepare in case this situation eventuates.
