Hi Pat

Apologies for the delay.

My team is currently working to arrange a workshop for the Mission's advisory panel for June this year. This was requested by the advisory panel at the 2 October 2018 meeting. We expect invitations to this workshop will be sent to a broad cross section of the mental health sector, and that it will support the panel's deliberations regarding future priorities for the Mission. That meeting will be the perfect vehicle for discussing how CTNs and similar enabling structures can fit in with the Mission.

Kind regards

Emma

Hi Erica We have not submitted the Child and Youth CTN proposal within the MMM scheme since it was too late to do so and we had been unclear that this was now geared for this type of enabling structure. We do need another way forward with this however. I may be able to achieve lift off via Wellcome Trust support however we will need a sustainability plan. Could we discuss now it is not in play under the MMM scheme? BW Pat

Hi Pat –

Apologies, but I have received confirmation that am unable to provide you with advice on the application process. This is because NHMRC are administering this grant and the grant opportunity is currently open. You should therefore direct questions regarding applications to NHMRC's Research Help Center available at 1800 500 983 and help@nhmrc.gov.au. I have for ease copied in NHMRC for a formal response.

I acknowledge that clinical trial networks were identified as a priority in the MMM roadmap, how this will be more specifically addressed will be a matter for the Advisory Panel moving forward. Within the MRFF suite of initiatives more broadly, the only already contractually committed funds for clinical trial networks is via ACTA. This investment is focused on supporting ACTA itself to facilitate and support self-funded networks.

Cheers, EK

Thanks Erica This idea (the CTN) was specifically mentioned as a possible platform to be funded under Million Minds in the public material on the scheme. BW pat

Hi Pat = sorry for not replying earlier – I am seeking further guidance on how to respond to you given that this process is open at the moment.

Will return next ASAP – your question might need to be referred or directed to more formal grant opportunity channels.

Cheers, EK

Just resending

Hi Erica I am writing in relation to the Child and Youth MH CTN project which we have discussed previously. I would like to submit it under Million Minds however the template may not suit it especially well. Do you think it could be considered or is there another funding mechanism that could be considered? Thanks and best wishes Pat
