The Australian Government's commitment to Katungul and the Aboriginal communities of the Far South Coast is demonstrated by the provision of an additional $2 million for the construction of a new health service facility for Katungul at Narooma. This funding is being matched by the New South Wales Government. Work on the new building is yet to commence but when completed it is expected it will provide a modern, purpose built facility that will meet the health service needs of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Australians living on the Far South Coast of New South Wales for many years.
